for any $z \in M$

the path

$x \longrightarrow z$ followed by

$z \longrightarrow y$

can be no shorter

than the shortest

path from x to y

Hence we require

(iv) $d(x,y) \leq d(x,z) + d(z,y)$

This is called the triangle inequality.